An act of Congress established the Arkansas Territory in 1819, separating it from the Missouri Territory, and Fayetteville's first known settlers began to arrive in 1823. In the 1830s, the territory began to grow rapidly, a process that led to statehood in 1836.

Northwest Arkansas remained a generally lawless region because of its proximity to the wild frontier, which was not regulated by any form of organized government. Outlaws such as Belle Starr, Jesse James and the Younger Brothers took advantage of this geographic anomaly to carry out their misdeeds.

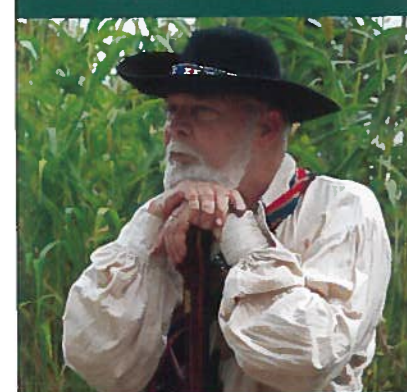

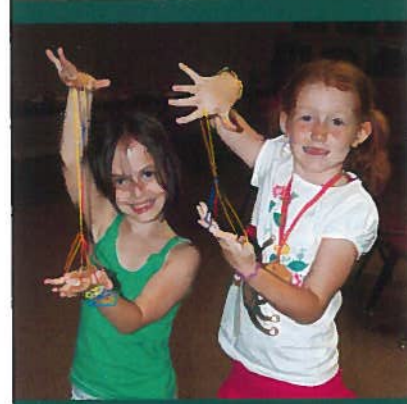

On May 6, 1861, Arkansas became the eighth state to leave the Union during the Civil War. Although no battles were fought inside the city, Bentonville suffered terribly from the ravages of the Civil War. Southern sympathizers killed a soldier left behind by retreating Union forces in 1862. When federal troops heard of the death, they returned the next day and burned 36 buildings.

On Jan. 22, 1872, Arkansas Industrial University, the first state university and only land-grant institution, opened its doors to students in Fayetteville. In 1899, it would become the University of Arkansas.

In 1881, 5,000 people applauded the arrival of Northwest Arkansas' first train. Within a year, 125 rail cars of wheat, 100 cars of green apples, and an impressive shipment of eggs and produce rolled out of Fayetteville. Rogers began as a railroad town when the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad pushed its line through the region.

Springdale was influenced by the U.S. government's relocation of Cherokee tribes from Georgia, Tennessee and the Carolinas in 1817. U.S. Highway 412 is built along the route once known as the Trail of Tears, the path the Cherokees were forced to walk on their way to the Oklahoma Territory.

PEA RIDGE NATIONAL MILITARY PARK

Ten miles northeast of Rogers along U.S. 62, Pea Ridge National Military Park protects 4,300 acres in and around the site of the Battle of Pea Ridge, which took place March 7-8, 1862. The battle was the largest fought west of the Mississippi River.

The park grounds are open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and closed on Sunday.

The visitor center is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and closed Sunday and Monday.

Call 451-8122 or visit www.nps.gov/peri.

PRAIRIE GROVE BATTLEFIELD STATE PARK

This 130-acre park commemorates the Civil War Battle of Prairie Grove, which was fought Dec. 7, 1862. It was the last major Civil War battle in the area, and the Confederate defeat here paved the way for control of the region by the Union Army.

More than 20,000 Confederate and Union soldiers fought in the battle, and the death toll for both sides was severe.

Prairie Grove Battlefield State Park, 10 miles west of Fayetteville on U.S. 62, includes much of the area where the heaviest fighting occurred and a variety of hands-on experiences that dramatize the wartime event. A cluster of historic buildings vividly reveals soldiers' sparse living conditions.

Annual events include a Memorial Day tribute and the state's largest battle reenactment during the first weekend of December on even-numbered years. The park is 13 miles west of Fayetteville on U.S. 62. Admission is free to the visitor information center and exhibit gallery, but there is a small fee for a guided tour of historic buildings. Visit www.arkansasstateparks.com or call 846-2990.

UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS CAMPUS

The University of Arkansas campus in Fayetteville is home to several historically important monuments. Completed in 1875, Old Main is the oldest building on campus and was added to the National Register of Historic Places in 1970.

Other campus buildings added to the register include the Inn at Carnal Hall and Ella's Restaurant (1982) and Memorial Hall (1992).

WAR EAGLE MILL

Built in 1973 as an authentic reproduction of a 19th Century gristmill, War Eagle Mill offers visitors a taste of the pioneering spirit of the millers who ground grains for the daily table in the 1800s. The first War Eagle Mill, built in 1832, washed away in 1848. A second mill was burned during the Civil War. A third mill was built in 1873.

The mill and gift shop are at 11045 War Eagle Road, 13 miles east of Rogers. For more information call 789-5343 or go to www.wareaglemill.com.

HISTORICAL CEMETERIES

Evergreen Confederate Cemetery at 514 E. Rock St. in Fayetteville is the resting place for more than 600 Confederate soldiers from four states.

The National Cemetery at 700 S. Government St. in Fayetteville is one of the oldest military cemeteries in the South. It is the burial site for 1,600 Union soldiers and hundreds of veterans who have lost their lives since the Civil War.

THE CLINTON HOUSE MUSEUM

The first home of Bill and Hillary Clinton at 930 W. Clinton Drive in Fayetteville was a quaint, English-style cottage.

It has since been turned into a museum displaying various photographs, historical documents and memorabilia that chronicle the pair's early years, including an exact replica of Hillary's wedding dress.

The museum is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday. Admission is $8. For more information call 444-0066 or visit www.clintonhousemuseum.org.

THE WALMART MUSEUM

Step back in time to learn about Sam Walton's American Dream. The interactive museum features photos and artifacts including Sam Walton's pickup truck. While you're there, enjoy some taffy in Walton's 5&10 and ice cream at the Spark Café Soda Fountain. The museum is open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and noon to 9 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free. The museum is located at 105 N. Main St. in Bentonville. Call 273-1329 or visit www.walmartmuseum.com.

SHILOH MUSEUM OF OZARK HISTORY

This museum was named after the community of Shiloh, which was renamed Springdale in the 1870s. Six different buildings make up the museum, including a log cabin and a 22,000-SF main building. Admission is free, but donations are accepted. The museum is at 118 W. Johnson Ave. in Springdale. For more information call 750-8165 or visit www.shilohmuseum.org.

ROGERS HISTORICAL MUSEUM

Visitors to this museum can see how Rogers began and explore its connections with the region. The museum offers hands-on exhibits and programs for all ages, so families have fun and learn together. You will experience an 1890s home, flood the White River Valley, build a timber frame house, and much more.

The museum is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday, stays open late until 8 p.m. Tuesday, and is open from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday. The museum is located at 322 S. Second St. For more information call 621-1154, visit rogershistoricalmuseum.org, or find us on Facebook.

MUSEUM OF NATIVE AMERICAN HISTORY

A glimpse of what life was like for America's first inhabitants is available at the Museum of Native American History, where visitors are invited to "Walk Through America's Past."

Divided into five time periods that will guide visitors through the constantly changing lives of Native Americans, the museum navigates visitors through the use of artifacts, and displays feature relics dating from more than 14,000 years old to historic times.

The museum is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday. For more information call 273-2456 or visit www.monah.us. The museum is located at 202 S.W. O St. in Bentonville.

DAISY AIRGUN MUSEUM

Rogers has been home to Daisy Manufacturing Co. since 1958, when it moved from Michigan. The company's museum is located in Rogers' historic district, and is said to be home to the largest collection of antique airguns, BB guns and commemorative rifles in the world. More than 150 air rifles and toys are on display, including vintage Daisy products and Red Ryder collectibles.

The museum is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and is located at 202 W. Walnut St. For more information call 986-6873 or visit www.daisymuseum.com. ■

CULTURE

"Pippin" will be performed at the Walton Arts Center from Nov. 10-15, 2015.

Looking for culture in Northwest Arkansas? From art galleries to theater groups, there are many enriching offerings. The Broadway series offered by the Walton Arts Center in Fayetteville brings award-winning performances to the area, while the community theater groups in Rogers, Springdale and Siloam Springs show off the area's abundant local talent.

Cultural experiences also include Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art, the Scott Family Amazeum, the Symphony of Northwest Arkansas, a plethora of private art galleries and historical museums and locally grown bands.

Here are some of the local offerings:

Bella Vista

WISHING SPRING GALLERY

The Wishing Spring Gallery, operated by The Village Art Club Inc. of Bella Vista, is a place where club members can display and sell their wares.

The gallery is open from mid-March until the end of December, and the artists and craftspeople who exhibit their work are often there to visit with customers.

The club instructors perform arts and crafts demonstrations, and the art club also offers a full slate of adult workshops.

For more information, call 273-1798 or visit www.wishingspringgallery.org.

Bentonville

CRYSTAL BRIDGES MUSEUM OF AMERICAN ART

The permanent collection at Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art spans five centuries of American masterworks ranging from the Colonial era to the present. The collection includes iconic images such as Rosie the Riveter by Norman Rockwell, Kindred Spirits by Asher B. Durand and Maxfield Parrish's The Lantern Bearers. The museum also features ongoing temporary exhibitions.

Designed by renowned architect Moshe Safdie and opened to the public on Nov. 1, 2011, Crystal Bridges features a series of pavilions housing galleries, meeting and classroom spaces and a large, glass-enclosed gathering hall. The museum also features a museum store and a restaurant located in a glass-enclosed bridge overlooking two spring-fed ponds.

Located at 600 Museum Way, Crystal Bridges is open from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, and from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday and Friday. Admission is free.

For more information, call 418-5700 or visit www.crystalbridges.org.

SCOTT FAMILY AMAZEUM

The Scott Family Amazeum is in recognition of the Lee and Linda Scott family, who have spent more than 30 years in Northwest Arkansas, and were among the early advocates of what was initially known as The Children's Museum of Northwest Arkansas. Lee Scott spent 35 years with Wal-Mart Stores Inc. and retired as CEO in 2009.

The museum, near the entrance to Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art, features approximately 50,000 SF of exhibit, meeting and learning spaces inside the museum. will engage visitors with the land, industries and people that built the Arkansas culture and sustain it today. Exhibitions include the Tinkering Studio, water area, climbable tree canopy and an exploratory wet lab.

A permanent exhibit at the museum will also recognize Walmart as a signature sponsor. In an interactive space called The Market, guests will be able to not only shop for produce and groceries, but also don aprons and work behind the butcher counter or in the bakery. Additionally, they will be able to serve other guests in the café or play the role of cashier.

The facility will also include a venue for businesses and organizations to host gatherings, productions and special events.

For more information, call 696-9280 or visit www.amazeum.org.

CRYSTAL BRIDGES TRAIL

This shaded, 1.5-mile multi-use trail ambles along the western edge of Crystal Bridges' site. Crystal Bridges Trail serves as the pedestrian entrance to the museum and connects the art trail with downtown Bentonville. Trail highlights include sculptures by Paul Manship, Pat Musick and Jerry Carr, Nancy Schön, George Dombek and Robert Tannen.

The Crystal Bridges Observation Deck offers close-up views of the museum campus. The trail begins at Northeast Third Street and ends at Northeast A Street at the northern edge of the museum grounds. The trail includes a walk through Compton Gardens, a 7-acre natural woodland garden located at 312 N. Main St., just one-third mile north of the downtown square.

MUSEUM OF NATIVE AMERICAN ARTIFACTS

Eureka Springs

EUREKA SPRINGS INSPIRATION POINT

Inspiration Point on Arkansas Highway 62 was aptly named in 1932 by its owner at that time, Rev. Charles Reign Scoville. No matter the season or time of day one visits, it is a place to refresh as you gaze over the White River and its valley 500 feet below the Point. There is also a documented, year-round eagle's nest below the Point.

For more information, call 253-6150 or visit www.inspirationpointview.com

EUREKA SPRINGS GALLERY ASSOCIATION

Carroll County is a haven for fine art, as evidenced by the featured galleries of the Eureka Springs Gallery Association. There are other art galleries nestled in Northwest Arkansas' cities, but this tour de force of fine art includes the most diverse grouping of local artists in the region.

UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS

The University of Arkansas campus, with its music, drama and art departments, brings an ambitious cultural presence to the area.

Each year the Department of Music offers over 200 concerts and recitals featuring students, faculty and guest artists. Their outstanding performance groups include five choral ensembles, four concert bands, opera, jazz band, orchestra and many smaller specialty ensembles. Unless otherwise noted on the schedule, all events on campus are free admission and open to the public.

With the scheduled completion of the 600 seat Faulkner Performing Arts Center in mid-2015, the music department added to its facilities a world class performance venue dedicated to music. The current recital hall, Stella Boyle Smith Concert Hall, is located in the Fine Arts building, adjacent to the Music Building. The 200 seat concert hall offers an intimate setting for chamber and solo recitals and is the host for more than 300 concerts annually.

University Programs brings a variety of cultural and recreational events to the campus, including comedians, well-known bands and performers, dance troupes, drama, outdoor movies, a film series and regional speakers. For more information about University Programs, call 575-5255.

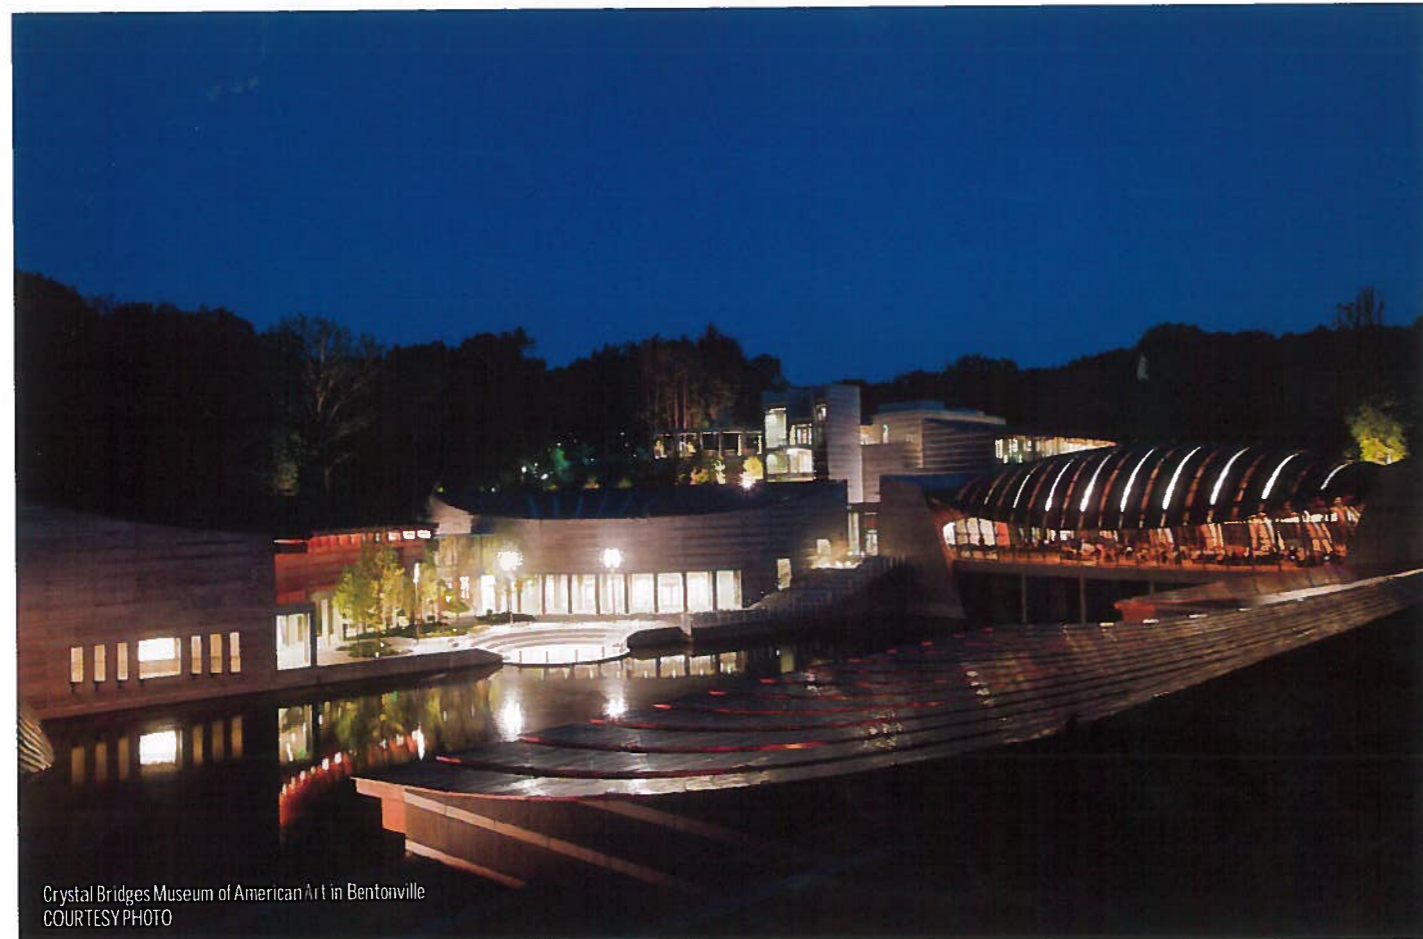

The UA also stages theater productions at the 315-seat University Theatre. The season runs from late September through the spring. For more information about the university's stage offerings, call the box office at 575-4752 or visit www.fulbright.uark.edu.

Additionally, works by faculty, students and artists from across the country are displayed at the Fine Arts Center Gallery. Call the Department of Fine Arts, 575-4801 or visit www.fulbright.uark.edu

WALTON ARTS CENTER

Walton Arts Center opened in 1992, and since then has continued to grow and serve the Northwest Arkansas community by bringing performing artists and entertainers from around the world to the region.

The nonprofit arts organization is known as Arkansas' largest and busiest center for the performing arts and entertainment, featuring a full season of weeklong Broadway shows. The heralded 2015-16 Broadway Series includes "Pippin," "Mamma Mia," "Bridges of Madison County," "Kinky Boots" and Rodgers & Hammerstein's "Cinderella."

The WAC provides a jazz series, kids' and family programming, dance, music and theatrical performances, spring and summer performing arts-based camps, the summer AWE (Arts with Education) teacher's professional development institute and a special student matinee performances series that serves more than 20,000 students each season.

The center is also the site of many additional community events, including concerts, receptions and more.

The WAC is undergoing a $23 million expansion/renovation project, with a goal of being complete by the fall of 2016. Heavy construction of the main lobby and Starr Theater will occur during the off-peak summer months of 2015 and 2016 to minimize the impact on regular programming and ensure the arts center has a full season. Plans include adding 30,000 SF of space, including a new and expanded atrium lobby that connects to Dickson Street, significant renovations and expansion of Starr Theater, expanding space for back of the house technical and theatrical equipment, and new administrative offices.

More information, including a full performance schedule, is available on the center's website, www.waltonartscenter.org. Tickets may be purchased online or by calling 443-5600.

Rogers

ROGERS LITTLE THEATER

The Rogers Little Theater is run entirely by volunteers. The season schedule consists of six dinner theater productions, each of which is performed at the Victory Theater in downtown Rogers, designed by noted Rogers architect A.O. Clarke and opened in December 1927. The theater also presents a children's series, fine arts exhibitions in the Zephyr Blevyns Gallery and a family fun series.

For additional information, call 631-8988 or visit www.rogerslittletheater.org.

WALMART AMP

Walton Arts Center (WAC) purchased the Arkansas Music Pavilion (AMP) in February 2011 as part of an expansion strategy to meet the growing demand for more arts and entertainment in the region. Over the past two years, the AMP has experienced tremendous growth that helps support the arts programs at Walton Arts Center like the popular 10x10 Arts Series, Take-A-Seat and educational programs for local schools.

In February of 2014, WAC announced that Walmart would be the founding title sponsor for the AMP. The new Walmart AMP, which opened in June 2014, provides a fun and comfortable concert-going experience and serves a broader audience to create more entertainment and increased economic activity around the region. The new permanent outdoor music venue has upgraded technical capabilities, a seating capacity of 7,000-plus, with covered seating for up to 3,000 patrons and the biggest outdoor stage house in Arkansas, all set in a vibrant commercial district with restaurants, shopping outlets and hotel accommodations.

Featuring Hank Williams Jr., Kenny Chesney, Colbie Caillat and a variety of other artists, the summer is sure to be full of entertainment. More information, including a full performance schedule, is available on the Walmart AMP website, www.arkansasmusicpavillion.com. Tickets may be purchased online or by calling 443-5600.

ARKANSAS PARKS & TOURISM

RECREATION

No matter the season, Northwest Arkansas is a haven for the outdoor enthusiast. The area's lakes, rivers and parks provide plenty of recreational activities and scenic beauty. Boating, hiking, camping and fishing spots are abundant, and there is always something to explore in Northwest Arkansas.

The following list includes some of Northwest Arkansas' most popular outdoor destinations and activities:

BOTANICAL GARDEN OF THE OZARKS

The beautiful, volunteer-led public gardens on 100 acres at the south shore of Lake Fayetteville are comprised of 12 themed, Phase-1 gardens, the Carl A. Totemeier Horticulture Center and a bat tower. The bat tower is designed to provide a haven for the endangered Ozark Big-Eared bat. Open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Call 750-2620 or visit www.bgozarks.org.

BEAVER LAKE

Completed in 1966, the 28,000-acre Beaver Lake, which spans Benton and Carroll counties, offers a plethora of outdoor activities including boating, skiing, fishing, swimming and just plain relaxing. With 487 miles of shoreline highlighted by limestone bluffs, marinas and outfitters are plentiful. Cabins, resorts and other lodging ring the lake, and campgrounds are also available in good number. Visit www.beaverlake.com.

BUFFALO NATIONAL RIVER

The Buffalo River stretches about 135 miles, with its headwaters beginning in Newton County near the Upper Buffalo Wilderness Area. The Buffalo is a popular destination for canoeing, horseback riding, swimming, kayaking, hiking and fishing. Campgrounds and lodging are available along the river, and concessionaires rent canoes all along the way.

Call (870) 439-2502 or visit www.nps.gov/buff.

THE CINNAMON VALLEY

The Cinnamon Valley luxury log cabins offer a unique blend of convenience, charm and serenity. The nine cabins are individually and luxuriously appointed, and nestled in the woods on 140 acres with two spring-fed lakes. Away from the world, but minutes from Eureka Springs, come experience "The Valley." For more information, call 244-5942 or visit www.thecinnamonvalley.com

COSMIC CAVERN

Two bottomless lakes and the only 9-foot "soda straw" in the Ozarks can be found in this cave near Berryville. The 80-minute guided tour takes visitors through magical subterranean pathways and rooms, and reveals the beauty of the underground. Call (870) 749-2298 or visit www.cosmiccavern.com.

DEVIL'S DEN STATE PARK

A real gem, Devil's Den State Park is tucked away in southern Washington County in a nook of the Ozark National Forest. Lee Creek runs through this park, which includes cabins, hiking, horseback riding, a swimming pool, a cafe, mountain bike trails and a small lake cascading over a native stone dam.

It's accessible by traveling on Interstate 49 south out of Fayetteville and taking Arkansas 74 west of Winslow, or Arkansas 170 from West Fork.

Call 761-3325, or visit www.arkansasstateparks.com/devilsden.

THE GREAT PASSION PLAY

Since 1968, over 7.7 million people have seen The Great Passion Play in Eureka Springs, which takes visitors back to the final days of Jesus Christ's walk on earth. The grounds atop Magnetic Mountain are home to the 67-foot-tall Christ of the Ozarks. Call (866) 566-3565, or visit www.greatpassionplay.org.

HOBBS STATE PARK-CONSERVATION AREA

Hobbs State Park is a natural area with little development covering 12,050 acres along the southern shore of Beaver Lake. The park, the state's largest in terms of land area, includes a variety of trails for hikers, mountain bikers and equestrians. The park's 17,531-SF visitor center opened in 2009 and features exhibits, classroom space, a retail sales area and the park's administrative offices.

Park interpreters offer a wide diversity of programs and workshops throughout the year. The park includes a variety of trails. The park includes the only public, outdoor shooting range in Arkansas with a bullet trap (open Tuesday through Sunday).

For more information, call 789-2380, or visit www.arkansasstateparks.com.

KINGS RIVER

Kings River is popular for canoeing and fishing. It flows north for more than 90 miles from the Boston Mountains of the Ozark National Forest, and empties into Table Rock Lake at the Missouri State line. Several spots along the river offer cabins, camping and canoe and kayak rentals. Call 253-8954 or visit www.kingsriveroutfitters.com.

LAKE FORT SMITH STATE PARK

Located just a few miles north of Mountainburg on U.S. 71, the park features all new facilities for camping and picnicking, swimming and boating, hiking and backpacking, fishing and kayaking. Call 369-2469, or visit www.arkansasstateparks.com/lakefortsmith.

LAKE WEDINGTON

This 102-acre lake in a tiny chunk of the Ozark National Forest 13 miles west of Fayetteville on Arkansas 16 is a great place to enjoy nature.

Trails, campsites, cabins, lodges, picnic sites and a boat ramp are some of the amenities. Call 442-3527 or visit www.arkansas.com.

MILDRED B. COOPER MEMORIAL CHAPEL

The Mildred B. Cooper Memorial Chapel honors Mildred Borum Cooper, wife of Bella Vista Village developer John Cooper Sr. It was designed by noted architect E.

DAY TRIPS

Northwest Arkansas has plenty to offer, but whether you live here or are just visiting, one of the best things to do is venture out from the city and escape for a while. Day trips to nearby attractions remain an appealing alternative for many families. What better way to unwind or create an unforgettable memory than with the kind of getaway that fills the gaps in between full-blown family vacations? Perhaps a visit to a zoo, spending time outdoors or even a larger concert venue will satisfy your craving. Here are a few options that are closer than you think.

ARKANSAS PARKS & TOURISM

Devil's Den State Park

Tucked in picturesque Lee Creek Valley, Devil's Den State Park is one of Arkansas' original state parks constructed by the Civilian Conservation Corps during the 1930s.

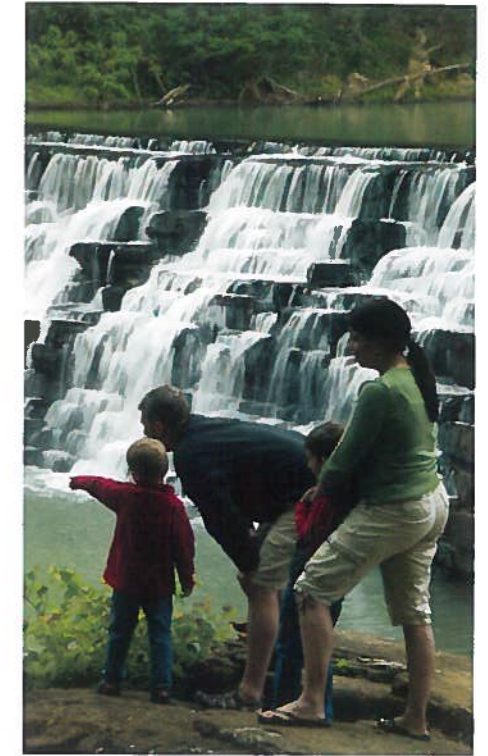

Native wood and stone was used to build the park's rustic-style structures that include 17 cabins of different styles and sizes, a unique pavilion/restaurant, dam, trails, bridges, a scenic overlook, and visitor center. The park holds the most complete example of CCC architecture in Arkansas — works that mirror the rugged, natural beauty of their surroundings.

In the heart of the park, the rock dam spanning Lee Creek forms eight-acre Lake Devil, a serene setting for fishing, canoeing, kayaking, and pedal boating. Hiking, backpacking, and mountain bike trails lead to backcountry in the surrounding Ozark National Forest.

For camping enthusiasts, the park offers 147 campsites. Forty-two sites comprise a horse camp including access to horse trails. A café and swimming pool are open in summer only.

The park also includes a store, playground, and ground camp. Park interpreters present programs throughout the year.

From Fayetteville, travel 8 miles south on Interstate 49 to Exit 52 (West Fork), then go 17 miles southwest on Arkansas 170; or exit Interstate 49 at Exit 45 (Winslow) and go 7 miles west on Arkansas 74. 479-761-3325 or 800-264-2417.

Oklahoma Aquarium

Explore the depths of the seas as you venture through eight exhibit galleries and a variety of immersive exhibits at the Oklahoma Aquarium. See the largest collection of bull sharks in captivity through a one-of-a-kind walk through tunnel, plus hundreds of other fascinating creatures including seahorses, jellyfish and eels. Send the kids crawling through the new Extreme Amazon exhibit to come face-to-face with unique species from under the water's surface. Roll up your sleeves to safely touch small sharks and stingrays and interact with fish, turtles and other animals at several feed stations.

The Oklahoma Aquarium is located in Jenks, Oklahoma – just a short two hour drive from Northwest Arkansas. The Oklahoma Aquarium website, www.okaquarium.org, offers helpful information including special events to help plan your trip. For example, check out the feed and dive show schedule to see the animals in action. Watch the sharks lunge and dive for bites of food every Monday and Thursday at 1:30, see archerfish use amazing aim to shoot down their "prey" with streams of water, and experience the playful energy of river otters as they frolic at feed time.

ECONOMY

Northwest Arkansas is a key driver of the state's economic engine and is home to many dynamic and growing businesses.

There are several factors that contribute to the area being a nationally recognized success, one of which is a major increase in Northwest Arkansas' population.

Northwest Arkansas is defined as the Fayetteville-Springdale-Rogers metropolitan statistical area (MSA), which is comprised of Benton, Madison and Washington counties in Arkansas, and McDonald County in Missouri.

The area's current MSA population, according to the most recent U.S. Census Bureau estimates from July 2014, is listed at 501,653.

That total ranks No. 105 nationally by the Census Bureau and represents a 1.9 percent increase from a 2013 population estimate of 492,375. In terms of county population, estimates from July 2014 indicate Benton County had a population of 242,321 and Washington County had a population of 220,792. That two-county total represents about 15.6 percent of the state's population.

The growth, according to a 2015 report by commercial real estate firm CBRE, continues to fuel a real estate boom.

Building permit values increased 48 percent from 2013 to 2014, and construction permit values in the region's four largest cities — Bentonville, Fayetteville, Rogers and Springdale — totaled $773 million. Commercial construction accounted for $370 million of that total.

The most recent data available from the U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis also illustrates the fact that Northwest Arkansas ranked No. 26 out of 381 MSAs in its rate of economic growth in 2014.

The U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis put the Northwest Arkansas region's gross domestic product at $22.83 billion for the end of 2014, up 5.6 percent from the previous year.

Additionally, a report published in June 2014 predicted Northwest Arkansas will be the third fastest-growing economy among large metropolitan areas in the nation through 2020.

The forecast, prepared by IHS Global Insight, was released at the U.S. Conference of Mayors meetings in Dallas, showing the economy is expected to grow by 4.2 percent annually through 2020. Only the Austin-Round Rock-San Marcos MSA in Texas (4.4 percent) and Raleigh-Cary in North Carolina (4.3 percent) are expected to grow at a faster rate.

For decades trucking, poultry and the world's largest retail company led the way for Northwest Arkansas' continued economic growth. Those sectors remain largely "recession proof," but a burgeoning number of high-tech and startup companies are making the area a hotbed for such activity.

Up-and-coming companies in the region enjoy the support of entities such as the GENESIS Technology Incubator at the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville, which provides startups with technical expertise from faculty and staff, along with inexpensive access to labs and equipment.

VIC Technology Venture Development, a private technology venture development firm based at the Arkansas Research and Technology Park in Fayetteville, is also a leader in growing the state's startup ecosystem. VIC has developed a unique business model for forming and developing companies based on licensed early-stage technologies from the UA and other top research universities across the country.

Job growth continues to be one of the region's best features. During the period from 2012 to 2013, employment in Northwest Arkansas grew 2.4 percent, a rate that outstripped competitor regions, the state of Arkansas and the nation as a whole. Meanwhile, unemployment in the region was 5.8 percent in 2013. Northwest Arkansas added 5,000 jobs between 2012 and 2013. Employment in the region reached a new annual peak level of 214,500 in 2013.

The data is from the 2014 State of the Northwest Arkansas Region Report, prepared annually by the Center for Business and Economic Research (CBER) at the UA, in conjunction with the Northwest Arkansas Council, a nonprofit organization formed in 1990 to focus on economic development, infrastructure, education and community vitality.

The retail might of Wal-Mart Stores Inc. is helping drive regional sustainability initiatives, and it's exactly why hundreds of the Fortune 500 have a major presence here.

Northwest Arkansas is also home to Fortune 100 protein company Tyson Foods Inc., and the largest publicly owned truckload carrier, J.B. Hunt Transport Services Inc., which is headquartered in Lowell.

Rogers has particularly benefited from its proximity to Bentonville and Walmart headquarters. Hundreds of Walmart vendors have placed offices in the area's upscale commercial business parks, and it's estimated that about 1,500 vendors have a physical presence within a 25-mile radius of Walmart.

The UA is also a major economic engine for the region and plays an important role in the continued growth by feeding its graduates into local business operations. The economic impact of the UA on state and local economies, according to CBRE, has grown from $725 million in 2009 to $1.2 billion in 2014, a 66 percent increase.

In the Northwest Arkansas region, the university's economic impact is estimated at $932.3 million in 2014. This economic impact includes $907.2 million in recurring annual economic impact and $25 million in one-time construction impacts. The annual business operations of the university contribute $522.2 million to the Northwest Arkansas economy, while student spending contributes $307.4 million.

One of the industries in which Northwest Arkansas continues to grow is travel and tourism, reflected in the most recent data available from the Arkansas Department of Parks & Tourism.

From 2009 through 2013, in the six-county region of Benton, Carroll, Crawford, Madison, Sebastian and Washington counties, tourism-tax collections grew 15.5 percent to $3.47 million.

The data reflects the totals from a 2 percent sales tax that is collected on tourism-related business including lodging, theme parks, marinas and camping.

The area has received a double boost to its travel and tourism industry in recent years. The Northwest Arkansas Naturals, a minor league baseball team, relocated from Wichita, Kansas, and threw its first pitch in Springdale in 2008, meaning hundreds of thousands of dollars in state and county tax revenue, along with an annual payroll of about $6 million.

The world-class Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art opened in Bentonville on Nov. 11, 2011. The 220,000-SF museum's multimillion-dollar collection includes works by American masters such as Charles Wilson Peale, Charles Bird King and Asher B. Durand, and is supported in part by an $800 million endowment from the Walton Family Foundation.

The total economic impact of the museum initially was expected to be more than $14 million per year to the region, based on an anticipated 250,000 visitors each year. In March 2012, however, the museum announced it already had drawn more than 250,000 visitors.

Bentonville added another hot tourism draw in 2015 when the Scott Family Amazeum opened in July. The long-anticipated interactive children's museum is situated near the entrance to Crystal Bridges.

All in all, Northwest Arkansas is poised to maintain the economic upswing it has seen in the past several years, and will surely continue to be a desirable destination for visitors and newcomers alike.

WORLD TRADE CENTER ARKANSAS

Northwest Arkansas is truly a gateway to the world through its association with the World Trade Centers Association. The organization itself has 300 locations throughout 100 countries, representing more than 1 million companies worldwide.

The goal of the non-political, nonprofit association is to bring peace and stability to the world through trade. Another goal of the WTCA is to provide a one-stop

The WTCA combines informal and formal networks. With its massive proprietary database, businesses can easily find each other. The WTCA's resources monitor trade transactions throughout the world to see what is moving in and out of certain countries, as well as tonnage and companies involved.

The center moved into its offices in the Pinnacle Hills area of Rogers in January 2007. The center, which is affiliated with the Sam M. Walton College of Business at the UA, seeks to help Arkansas businesses gain a bigger share of the global marketplace. For more information, call 418-4800 or visit www.arwtc.org.

Northwest Arkansas' public schools, private schools and institutions of higher learning are critical to growing the state's economy. They provide students with high-quality educational offerings to help them prepare for today's technologically advanced and globally competitive economy.

THE UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS

Founded in 1871 as a land-grant college and state university, the University of Arkansas is the state's largest educational institution, with a fall 2014 enrollment of 26,237, with students from all 50 states and 120 countries. Built on 345 acres, the UA campus remains a picturesque centerpiece of Fayetteville and offers programs of study in more than 200 fields.

The UA is made up of 10 distinct bodies: the Dale Bumpers College of Agricultural, Food and Life Sciences; the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences; the Fay Jones School of Architecture; the Sam M. Walton College of Business; the College of Education and Health Professions; the College of Engineering; the Graduate School; the School of Architecture, the School of Law and the Honors College.

NORTHWEST ARKANSAS COMMUNITY COLLEGE

The Northwest Arkansas Community College District was authorized on Aug. 15, 1989, when voters in the Rogers and Bentonville public school districts passed a 3-mil tax. The first classes were attended by more than 1,200 students in the fall of 1990 at high schools, chambers of commerce, municipal and leased facilities throughout the district.

The growth at the public, two-year college in Bentonville has been remarkable. Burns Hall opened its doors to just more than 2,400 students in August 1995. The main building is a multipurpose facility on 131 acres of land at Exit 86 off Interstate 540 on the Rogers and Bentonville, Arkansas, city limits. The Shewmaker Center for Workforce Technologies opened in 2003 and offers customized programs to area businesses. The Becky Paneitz Student Center opened in the Spring of 2007, along with a student parking garage. Summer 2010 saw the opening of the Shewmaker Global Business Development Center and a new Health Profession Building opened in January of 2013.

NWACC had an enrollment of 8,164, according to fall 2014 figures. The college offers several one-year certificate programs in various areas of study. In addition, the college offers more than 20 associate's degrees.

Bentonville High School, Rogers High School and Rogers Heritage High School were ranked the No. 2, No. 3 and No. 5 top Arkansas schools in the U.S. News & World Report Best Public High Schools 2015 rankings. Prairie Grove High School was also deemed a strong school, coming in at No. 9.

Haas Hall Academy, a Fayetteville charter school, was ranked No. 1 for the fourth straight year, and had a national ranking of No. 175.

The Fayetteville School District was chartered by the state in 1871 as the first chartered school district in Arkansas. Fayetteville High School recently completed a $96 million renovation and expansion project to provide students a more modern place to learn.

Bentonville and Springdale are two of the largest districts in the state, and will soon add new high schools. Bentonville West High School is under construction in Centerton, and will open to students in grades 9 through 11 in the fall of 2016.

In December 2013, Springdale was one of only five schools across the nation to share $120 million in U.S. Department of Education Race to the Top grants. Springdale used its $25.9 million to create the School of Innovation, which was launched in the fall of 2014 with 200 eighth-graders, and district leaders are already moving forward with plans to build a new facility that will eventually house up to 1,000 students in grades 8 through 12.

Getting settled in a new area takes some time. The information provided here might make getting acquainted with the area a little easier.

Two important things to remember: Dial 911 for all emergency services in Benton and Washington counties; 479 is the area code for all telephone numbers in the two counties.

OBTAINING A DRIVER'S LICENSE

The Arkansas State Police conducts driver's license testing at 1686 Ford Ave. and 5084 Har-Ber Ave. in Springdale, as well as at sites in Eureka Springs, Huntsville and Gentry. Arkansas Revenue offices handle license renewals.

The requirements for an Arkansas driver's license or identification card vary depending on the license you are bringing with you from another state. An out-of-state license (not expired more than 31 days, suspended or revoked) can be exchanged for an Arkansas driver's license.

If the out-of-state license is expired more than 31 days but less than one year, you are required to take the written and vision examination but not the road examination.

If the out-of-state license is expired more than a year, you must take the written, vision and road examination.

If you do not have the actual out-of-state license to surrender, you are required to take both written and road tests.

Also, Arkansas law requires anyone obtaining a license for the first time or moving to Arkansas to show proof of legal presence in the United States. Acceptable documents are: a U.S. birth certificate, photo military/military dependent ID, naturalization certificate, a U.S. passport or visa, an Immigration and Naturalization Services (INS) photo document. (Border Crosser Cards are not accepted.) You also must present two forms of identification.

Visit www.dfa.arkansas.gov. To contact the State Police driver testing office in Springdale, call 751-1141.

GETTING A CAR LICENSED

You have 30 calendar days after becoming a resident to register your vehicle through Arkansas Revenue offices.

Requirements for initial vehicle licensing in Arkansas include:

- A Vehicle Identification Number inspection is required when an Arkansas title cannot be surrendered. A certified law enforcement officer of any city or county in the state, the Arkansas State Police, or a designee of the Arkansas State Police, may conduct the inspection.

A VIN inspection is not required when a new resident provides an out-of-state title with the new resident's name on the front of the out-of-state title and the name of the out-of-state title is a natural person (not a business, firm or corporation); and the person on the out-of-state title has established residency in the state and has obtained a valid Arkansas driver's license.

- A copy of a current registration certificate from the state you are moving from.

- A certificate of title or proof that the vehicle is financed and the title is being held by a lien holder.

- Proof from your county assessor showing that the vehicle has been assessed or listed for assessment for the current year.

- Proof that no personal property taxes are owed. Acceptable proof is either a statement from your county tax collector, or certification of "FIRST ASSESSMENT" stamped on your assessment papers.

- Proof of liability insurance coverage on the vehicle being registered and titled.

- License fees, which are based on vehicle weight.

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES

Personal property taxes, like real property taxes, are based on the estimated value of the property and the millage rate for the county, city and school district where you live. Arkansas residents are required to assess their personal property, which includes all vehicles, trailers and boats, by May 31 of each year at their county assessor's office.

Assessment can be done online at www.washcoonline.com in Washington County and via www.bentoncountyar.gov in Benton County.

Personal and real property taxes are due Oct. 10 of each year. Penalties are added for late assessment and/or late tax payment.

ARKANSAS GOVERNMENT

Arkansas' state government is structured similarly to the federal government, with executive, legislative and judicial branches that operate independently of each other and form a system of checks and balances. There are 100 members of the House of Representatives, who serve a maximum of three two-year terms. The Senate's 35 members each represent about 83,300 Arkansans and are limited to two four-year terms.

The two legislative bodies form the Arkansas General Assembly, which convenes the second Monday in January every other year for a session lasting 60 days unless a vote is cast to extend it. The governor can also call a special session.

Although it is somewhat similar in organization to state or federal government, county government in Arkansas is rife with terminology that might sound confusing to newcomers. The head of the executive branch of each county is the county judge. The legislative bodies are known as quorum courts, the members of which represent different county districts and are called justices of the peace. The judicial branch of county governments in Arkansas is the county court.

Benton County is in the 19th Judicial District West, and Washington County is in the 4th Judicial District. Elected officials include six circuit judges and the prosecuting attorney. County and circuit clerks maintain records for the county and court, respectively. Other elected officials include the assessor, who sets property value for tax collection, the tax collector, treasurer and sheriff. NORTHWEST ARKANSAS CLIMATE

Mild winters and hot summers are the norm for Northwest Arkansas. A good snow or two can be expected, but don't plan on breaking out the skis — winter precipitation in the area tends to be measured not in feet, but in inches.

In recent years, a couple of severe ice storms, including one of unprecedented proportions in February of 2009 categorized as "the storm of a decade," wreaked havoc on the local landscape. There also was a record snowfall on Feb. 9, 2011, when many areas received between 18 and 24 inches.

July and August can get a bit muggy, and many residents head for the plentiful lakes, rivers and pools for some relief from the summer heat and humidity.

Spring is a feast for the senses, as the landscape is transformed almost overnight from gray branches and bare earth into a verdant sea of leaves and fragrant flora. Of course, this kind of flowery activity will leave some folks reaching for a hanky, so it might be a good idea to keep some Benadryl handy. Fall in Northwest Arkansas is also quite colorful, as green gives way to an explosion of warmer hues. A drive down one of the state's many scenic highways on a crisp October day can be an exhilarating visual experience. The many shades of red, orange and yellow stand in sublime contrast to the deep blue sky.

Winter rainfall averages are between two and three inches per month, with temperatures running from lows in the 20s to highs in the 40s. Temperatures increase gradually over the spring months.

March begins with lows in the upper 30s and highs in the 50s, and by May, lows are in the mid-50s and highs in the upper 70s. Average monthly spring rainfall is between four and five inches, and killing frosts end around mid-April.

Average summer temperatures run from lows in the mid-to-upper 60s to highs in the mid-to-upper 80s. July and August have an average of 18 and 19 days hotter than 90 degrees, respectively.

The mercury starts dropping with highs in the lower 80s giving way to those in the upper 50s and lows dipping from an average of 59 in September to 37 in November. The first killing frost usually arrives midway through October.

ARKANSAS LIQUOR LAWS

Like many states, Arkansas has its own particular array of puzzling laws regarding the sale of alcohol. More than half of the 75 counties in the state are "dry," which usually means no alcohol is sold at all. Several dry counties have wet cities within their borders, or private clubs that serve alcohol.

This used to include Benton County, where alcohol was widely available at restaurants, and was often referred to as "the wettest dry county in Arkansas."

But an effort to allow voters to vote on whether to change Benton County's status from "dry" to "wet," was successful in November 2012. According to the Benton County Clerk's office, there were 51,487 votes for alcohol sales and 27,193 votes against.

Residents could purchase beer and wine at convenience and grocery stores beginning in January 2013, and the Alcoholic Beverage Control processed hundreds of applications for the 55 liquor store permits allowed, based on one permit per 4,000 residents.

Benton was one of three counties that voted to go "wet" along with Sharp and Madison counties.

In most cities across the state, retail alcohol sales are prohibited on Sunday. But not in Eureka Springs, which allows Sunday sales of all alcohol, or in Altus or Wiederkehr Village, which sell local wine. Additionally, voters in Springdale and Tontitown voted in November 2012 to allow alcohol sales on Sunday.

Sunday suds-seekers in Fayetteville can purchase half-gallon bottles (known as "growlers") of locally brewed beer at Hog Haus Brewing Company. And most restaurants allow patrons to re-cork and bring home wine purchased with a meal.

The type of alcohol a bar or restaurant can serve — and when they can serve it — depends on the alcohol license that business has. A Class "A" license allows for sales of wine, beer and mixed drinks from 7 a.m. of one day to 2 a.m. the next day, Monday through Saturday, and from noon to 10 p.m. on Sunday. There are a handful of watering holes around the state that have Class "B" licenses and can serve until 5 a.m., although it is within the purview of city governments to impose further restrictions on hours of operation. A beer and wine license means the joint has to close by 1 a.m., except on Saturday, when patrons must drink up and get out by midnight. These licenses don't allow for Sunday sales.

Retail sales of alcohol vary from region to region. In Fayetteville, for instance, you will find beer and wine in some groceries. Hours of operation for liquor stores vary as well.

In Springdale, liquor stores stay open until midnight, Monday through Sunday. But in Fayetteville, they close at 11 p.m. Monday through Thursday and midnight Friday and Saturday. However, there are a few bars that sell beer to go until 1 a.m. Monday through Friday, and midnight on Saturday.

In Bentonville, retail alcohol can be bought from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Other cities adopted ordinances regarding alcohol sales within their borders in response to the "wet" vote.

BEAVER LAKE

Northwest Arkansas' community leaders got together in the 1950s to discuss the need for a long-term supply of clean, safe water. As a result, the dam that created Beaver Lake and the first water treatment plant were completed in the mid-1960s.

Today, Beaver Lake provides drinking water for about 420,000 people, as well as numerous food processors and other facilities.

The 28,370-acre lake also provides recreational opportunities and is used as a source of hydroelectric power. A resident or tourist need only drive a few miles from most towns in Northwest Arkansas to visit Beaver Lake, where fishing, swimming, boating, water sports, hunting and hiking opportunities abound.

Beaver Lake has a 487-mile shoreline and winds through miles of scenic Northwest Arkansas. About 75 percent of the lake is in Benton County, the rest in Carroll County.

Long recognized as a great spot for striped bass fishing, lucky anglers also can attract bream, crappie, large and smallmouth bass, northern pike, walleye and white bass onto their lines. In addition, the area around Beaver Lake boasts a multitude of wildlife in its thick, wooded terrain, where hiking trails offer treks ranging from one to five miles and keep novice and expert hikers alike coming back to the lake.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers supervises camping on Beaver Lake. Its 12 developed parks include War Eagle, Hickory Creek and Horseshoe Bend.

For more information about the lake, including hiking and interpretive trails, marinas and boat docks, call the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at 636-1210 or visit www.beaverlake.com.

To learn more about drinking water, water conservation, and watershed issues, visit Beaver Water District's website at www.bwdh2o.org.

GETTING AROUND

Getting to the local market or traveling across the country can be a snap using these great resources.

NORTHWEST ARKANSAS REGIONAL AIRPORT (XNA)

The regional airport, located in Highfill just seven miles from the Bentonville exit off Interstate 49, serves both business and leisure travelers in Northwest Arkansas. The airport opened for commercial passengers in November 1998, and a $20 million expansion was completed in 2011.

The airport is served by five airlines — Allegiant, American Airlines/American Eagle, Delta, U.S. Airways and United — offering nearly 50 daily flights to more than a dozen destinations, including Los Angeles, Chicago, Dallas-Ft. Worth and New York. Call 205-1000 or visit www.nwara.com.

FAYETTEVILLE MUNICIPAL AIRPORT

Fayetteville Municipal Airport/Drake Field, on U.S. Highway 71 about 3 miles south of Fayetteville's downtown business district, is a general aviation facility serving private and corporate aviation needs. The airport offers flight training, has a restaurant that is open for breakfast, lunch and dinner and is also the home of the Arkansas Air Museum.

For Drake Field, call 718-7642 or visit www.accessfayetteville.org.

BENTONVILLE MUNICIPAL AIRPORT

Bentonville Municipal Airport/Louise M. Thaden Field, off South Walton Boulevard (U.S. Highway 71B), offers services to private aviators with a fixed-base operator. The airport has a 4,427-foot paved runway. A flying instructor/examiner works at the airport. Call 254-0817.

ROGERS MUNICIPAL AIRPORT

Rogers Municipal Airport/Carter Field, off U.S. Highway 62, is one of the state's busiest airports, with about 60,000 flights per year. The airport facilities, including the 6,011-foot paved runway, are maintained by the city and Beaver Lake Aviation, a fixed-base operator, which is a division of Wal-Mart Stores Inc. Call Beaver Lake Aviation at 636-9400.

SILOAM SPRINGS MUNICIPAL AIRPORT

Siloam Springs Municipal Airport/Cecil Smith Field is north of U.S. Highway 412. The fixed-base operator provides general aviation and maintenance services for private aviators. The airport has a 5,000-foot paved runway. Call 524-4103.

SPRINGDALE MUNICIPAL AIRPORT

Springdale Municipal Airport, near the intersection of U.S. Highway 412 and Arkansas Highway 265, offers a 5,300-foot paved runway. A fixed-base operator maintains the airport facilities, including aircraft maintenance and a charter service. Call Summit Aviation at 751-4462.

PUBLIC TRANSIT

Although you certainly won't find any subway lines or commuter rail systems in Northwest Arkansas, there are some options for public transit. Ozark Regional Transit and Razorback Transit both offer bus service in the region.

ORT offers fixed routes around the area, as well as paratransit service (a shared ride service for which riders must make appointments from one to seven days in advance). Because it is a curb-to-curb service, assistance is not provided for individuals between the van and the door of their starting point or destination. Anyone who needs assistance should make arrangements ahead of time.

To make an appointment for paratransit service, call 756-5901 or 800-865-5901 ext. 2, between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday through Friday. For more information about ORT, including fares and route maps, visit www.ozark.org.

Razorback Transit offers free bus service during the fall and spring semesters to many areas around the University of Arkansas campus as well as to several shopping areas in Fayetteville. Buses run

RAZORBACK REGIONAL GREENWAY

A project that started as an effort to map area trails, the $38 million dollar Razorback Regional Greenway came to fruition as a partnership between state and federal agencies, city governments and local nonprofits.

The Greenway is a 36-mile, paved hiking and biking trail for cyclists and pedestrians connecting six cities in Benton and Washington counties. Known for its length, it runs from Fayetteville to Bella Vista.

Completion of the project was officially celebrated with a grand opening in May 2015, with a ribbon cutting in Springdale and scheduled events at other areas along the trail.

INSIDE INFO

Here are some interesting tidbits to talk about with locals:

• The city of Rogers is named after Captain C.W. Rogers, vice-president and general manager of the Frisco Railroad line, which ran from St. Louis to San Francisco.

• With the correct hand movements (ask any local) the art of "calling the Hogs" can be done by anyone of any age. Just yell, at the top of your lungs, "Wooooo. Pig. Sooie! Wooooo. Pig. Sooie! Wooooo. Pig. Sooie! Razorbacks!"

• The Razorbacks, incidentally, were originally The Cardinals. The color of the University of Arkansas' sports teams remains cardinal to this day, but the mascot was changed in 1909.

• Some of the most consistent speed traps in the area include the cities of Johnson, Elm Springs and Cave Springs. State troopers frequently sit on Interstate 49 (formerly Interstate 540) facing just north of the Fayetteville business district exit; facing just north of the Elm Springs Road exit and facing south under overpasses between the Arkansas Highway 102 and Bentonville/Bella Vista exits. Bella Vista routinely has a "fake" police car set up to discourage speeding.

• Gravette native Gene Stephens played 12 seasons in the Major Leagues, and on June 18, 1953, while playing for the Boston Red Sox, became the first player in MLB history in the modern era (since 1900) to collect three hits in a single inning. The feat has been matched just once, by Red Sox outfielder Johnny Damon, on June 27, 2003.

• Lowell was nicknamed "Mudtown" in the 1800s when a stagecoach became mired up to its coach bed while the driver and passengers had refreshments at a tavern.

• The Rodeo of the Ozarks, held each July at Parsons Stadium in Springdale, has been an annual event since 1944 and has been ranked as one of the five largest outdoor rodeos in the United States.

• Northwest Arkansas is the home of the world's largest retailer, Wal-Mart Stores Inc.; and the world's largest meat processor, Tyson Foods Inc.

• Sam Walton opened the first Walmart store in Rogers in 1962.

• Beaver Lake covers 30,000 acres and is surrounded on one side by Arkansas' largest state park, Hobbs State Park Conservation Area.

• AQ Chicken, a Northwest Arkansas tradition, opened its doors in 1947, selling half a chicken for 65 cents.

• One of the best traditions in sports takes place at John Brown University in Siloam Springs. During the first home men's basketball game of the year, fans in the arena shower the court with toilet paper after JBU scores its first basket. The tradition of "The TP Game" has been chronicled nationally by several media outlets, including The Sporting News, ESPN and CBS Sports.

• The University of Arkansas campus in Fayetteville is the only college with a Senior Walk. It was started by the Class of 1905, who carved their names into a sidewalk. A few years later, the class of 1904 added their names. Each graduating class since then has had their names engraved in the walk. Originally, the names were stamped by hand but in 1986, UA employees invented the Sand Hog, a machine designed specifically for the purpose of etching the names in Senior Walk. Senior Walk now stretches over 5 miles throughout campus and contains the names of more than 120,000 graduates.

• Several movies have been filmed or partially filmed in Northwest Arkansas, including "The Blue and the Gray," "Frank and Jesse," "The Tuskegee Airmen," "Biloxi Blues" and "Crystal," starring Arkansas' own Billy Bob Thornton.

• Major Civil War battles were fought in two Northwest Arkansas towns, Prairie Grove and Pea Ridge. Other areas were the sites of minor skirmishes.

• One of the best views in Northwest Arkansas is from the Lodge at Whitney Mountain in Garfield, where you can look over the finger-shaped sections of Beaver Lake and see the marina for the Beaver Lake Sail club, also visible at www.beaverlakesailclub.com.

• As a way to keep Bentonville in touch with its "Hillbilly Heritage", construction worker Joe Wilson came up with an event to remind locals they still live in the Ozarks: the World Championship Squirrel Cook Off. The contest was first held in 2011 and is held annually on the downtown square each September. The 2014 event drew nearly 40 teams from 13 states.

• Eureka Springs has 230 streets, and according to "Ripley's Believe It Or Not," none of those streets cross at right angles. It also boasts the Basin Park Hotel, where by virtue of being built into the mountainside, every floor is a ground floor.

• Bill and Hillary Clinton's first home as a married couple is at 930 California Blvd. in Fayetteville. The street was renamed Clinton Drive in 2010 and the house now operates as the Clinton House Museum.

• The Headquarters House, located at 118 E. Dickson St. in Fayetteville, was used as a headquarters for both sides of the Civil War.

• Until 1995, Bella Vista's Wonderland Cave was the home of the largest underground nightclub in the world.

• Springdale is home to the largest population of Marshallese outside of the Marshall Islands. While 3,800 people might not seem like too many, it's about 5.5 percent of the total population of Marshallese in the world.

• Cave Springs is home to the rare Cave Springs Blind Cavefish, an endangered species that has caused more than its share of development squabbles.

• During certain times of the year the familiar smell of chicken houses is apparent in the area. Locals say, "Smells like money."

• St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church in Eureka Springs, built in 1904, has been featured on "Ripley's Believe It or Not." So what's the amazing part? You enter the church through the bell tower.

FINDING CHILDCARE

With its kid-centered parks, fun spots, retail stores and more, there are lots of opportunities for family fun.

Options for childcare in Northwest Arkansas range from private nanny services to large, multi-service child care centers. In-home care is available, too.

Parents should get started finding quality care as early as possible, since many providers have waiting lists. An extensive listing of providers is available by calling the Childcare Resource and Referral Center at 751-3463.

After selecting centers, parents are advised to call a licensing specialist to find out how those centers score on standards of quality.

To search childcare providers and view results of their latest licensing reviews, visit www.arkansas.gov/childcare/search.html and click the Child Care Search tab.

WASHINGTON REGIONAL MEDICAL CENTER

WRMC is the only nonprofit, community-owned and locally governed healthcare system in Northwest Arkansas. The system includes an acute care hospital licensed for 366 beds, a rehabilitation hospital, kidney dialysis centers, an outpatient surgery center and a network of clinics and services.

WRMC's fifth floor and chapel were part of a $64 million expansion in 2009.

That project also expanded the facility's emergency department Pat Walker Center for Seniors, Center for Support Services and the hospital's kitchen and pharmacy.

For more information, call 463-1000 or visit www.wregional.com.

VETERANS HEALTH CARE SYSTEM OF THE OZARKS

Veterans are served by the Veterans Health Care System of the Ozarks. Specialty clinics for urology, orthopedics, diabetes and mental health are offered, as well as services for post-traumatic stress syndrome, outpatient substance abuse and women's health needs. For more information, call 443-4301 or visit www.fayetteville.va.gov.

VISTA HEALTH

Vista Health, a private 92-bed facility, is the area's only full-service mental health facility with a complete continuum of psychiatric and behavioral health services for children, adults and seniors. Call 521-5731 or visit www.vistahealthservices.com for more details.

HEALTHSOUTH REHABILITATION HOSPITAL

The outpatient and 60-bed inpatient HealthSouth Rehabilitation Hospital of Fayetteville is nearing completion of an expansion that will result in 80 beds. The project is expected to be completed in September 2015. HealthSouth, the nation's largest owner and operator of inpatient rehabilitation hospitals, is a partner with Washington Regional Medical Center. The hospital offers physical, speech and occupational therapies, as well as treatment for stroke victims and those with neurological diseases, arthritis, orthopedic problems and brain and spinal cord injuries. The University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences (UAMS) and Arkansas Children's Hospital (ACH) added the Centers for Children in Lowell to a network of 24 existing Arkansas pediatric clinics in 2007. This creates a statewide system of pediatric subspecialty health care with planned clinics to include services in allergy/immunology, asthma, cardiology, endocrinology, gastroenterology, hematology, nephrology, pulmonology, rheumatology and rehabilitative medicine.

The 40,000-SF, two-story Centers for Children in Lowell houses the Schmieding Developmental Center, the Schmieding KIDS FIRST program and various regional clinics. Call 750-0125 or visit www.centersforchildren.org for more information.

Rogers

MERCY NORTHWEST ARKANSAS

The area's only nonprofit, faith-based health system, provides health care services to an eight-county region.

The 350,000-SF Mercy Medical Center is licensed for 200 beds. The six-story hospital offers a wide range of inpatient and outpatient services, including surgery, diagnostic imaging, maternity, intensive care nursery and emergency care. The hospital is also home to the Ronald McDonald Family Room on the third floor.

A two-story bridge links the medical center with the 100,000-SF Mercy Physicians Plaza next door. The plaza is home to 11 Mercy clinics, including cardiology and cardiothoracic and vascular surgery; Mercy Wellness Center; Rogers Medical Center; Mercy Women's Health; Mercy Medical Specialties, endocrinology, rheumatology, neurology; Mercy Institute of Gastroenterology; Mercy Sleep Disorders Center; and Mercy Internal Medicine. Mercy Physicians Plaza also features the services of Mercy Medical Clinics Central Lab and Imaging.

Other Mercy locations in Rogers include Benton County Surgical Associates; NWA Ear, Nose & Throat Clinic; Mercy Family Medicine at Rogers; Mercy Wound Care; Mercy Orthopedics; Mercy Endocrinology; Mercy Obstetrics and Gynecology; and Mercy Home Health.

Mercy uses an electronic health record system that links all these locations so patients' medical records are available to caregivers wherever they are seen in Mercy. Call 338-8000 or visit www.mercy4u.com for more information.

Also located in Rogers is Pinnacle Women's Health Care, which can be reached by calling 464-7171.

INNISFREE HEALTH AND REHAB

Innisfree Health and Rehab in Rogers, located off of Walnut Street near the Walmart Supercenter, is a long term care and rehab facility that is part of the Innisfree Senior Living community. Short term rehab is offered by licensed therapists in a modern therapy gym. Long term care is also available. Innisfree Health and Rehab believes that building strong relationships with our families is key to the healing process.

For more information or to schedule a tour, call our referral line at 586-9707 or visit our website at www.innisfreehr.com.

JAMESTOWN NURSING AND REHAB

Jamestown Nursing and Rehab is a long term care and rehab facility located off of New Hope Road near Mercy Hospital and Pinnacle Promenade Mall in Rogers. Jamestown has a secure observation unit and rehab area with a state-of-the-art therapy gym for short-term stays and long term care both featuring semi-private and private suites.

For more information or to schedule a tour, call our referral line at 586-9707 or visit our website at www.jamestownnr.com.

Siloam Springs

SILOAM SPRINGS REGIONAL HOSPITAL

This 42-bed facility affiliated with Northwest Health System is one of two facilities in Washington County offering a 30-minute ER time pledge with staff and physicians working diligently to have every ER patient seen by a physician within 30 minutes of their arrival. Other services include a sleep medicine program, pulmonology, wound care and hyperbaric medicine program, psychiatry, senior health, podiatry, otolaryngology, pain management, inpatient rehabilitation and vascular surgery. For more information visit www.ssrh.net.

Springdale

NORTHWEST MEDICAL CENTER – SPRINGDALE

This 222-bed acute care facility has been serving the greater Springdale community for over 50 years. The hospital is nationally accredited for orthopedic care with The Joint Commission's Gold Seal. It was the first hospital in the community to achieve Chest Pain accreditation and is where the state's first open-heart surgery was performed. Cardiac services include open-heart surgery, some of the area's most modern cardiac catheterization labs and an onsite cardiac rehabilitation program. Northwest Health System was the first to bring robotic assisted surgery to the community based at NMC-Springdale for the treatment of prostate cancer, hysterectomies, vaginal prolapse and kidney related illnesses. The hospital is the only provider of 3D mammography technology in NWA at the Northwest Breast Imaging Center on the campus of Willow Creek Women's Hospital including a mobile mammography van to serve communities in our environs.

For more information, visit us at www.northwesthealth.com

OZARK GUIDANCE CENTER

OGC is a community mental health care center that has provided counseling and life-enhancing programs for children and adults for more than 30 years. Call 750-2020 or visit www.ozarkguidance.org for more information.

SHILOH NURSING AND REHAB

Shiloh Nursing and Rehab at 1092 Stultz Road in Springdale is a long term care and rehab facility offering person-centered care in a quiet, serene atmosphere. Each room has a dividing wall — not a curtain — giving the feel of a private room. Shiloh offers long term and respite care, as well as rehab with physical, occupational and speech therapy provided by licensed therapists.

GRUBS BARGRILLE.COM

"Grub's is a great place for everyone to hang out, watch the game, and grab a beer... while maintaining a family friendly atmosphere. The juicy half-pound burgers and signature fry dip have a reputation of their own, but it was the admirable school spirit and party-hard-game-day celebrations that gained Grub's national recognition. New salads and appetizers have been added to Grub's already great menu, and there is always something for everyone to enjoy. With three locations serving NWA, make Grub's Bar & Grille your game day & family headquarters!"
